Title of the paper:

Please write the title of the paper here. Title must be as short as possible, with no abbreviations or acronyms

Author's detail for all the authors must be as per the detail given below

First Author's Name:

Designation & Department:

Institution with full address (City, State, Country, Postal code):

E-mail Address of author:

ORCID:

Second Author's Name (if any):

Designation & Department:

Institution with full address (City, State, Country, Postal code):

E-mail Address of author:

ORCID:

Third Author's Name (if any):

Designation & Department:

Institution with full address (City, State, Country, Postal code):

E-mail Address of author:

ORCID:

Note: if there are more than three authors, Please write the detail of all the Authors in the same way as above

Corresponding Author: Please write the name of the corresponding author who must be one of the authors of the manuscript.

ABSTRACT

The abstract should consist of 150-250 words or less. The abstract should be written in complete sentences and should briefly state the objectives of study, materials and methods, Results and Findings, Implications, and Scope for future work / Limitations; it should be intelligible without reference to the rest of the paper.

- Objective of the study in one line.
- Methodology (materials and methods): Tools and techniques used for the study.
- Findings: Findings of the study in one or two lines.
- Implications,
- Scope for future work / Limitations
- Key Words: Four to six key words.
- 2-4 JEL Classification Code: for detail use the link given below:

<https://www.aeaweb.org/econlit/jelCodes.php?view=jel>

The abstract should only include text. Avoid the use of abbreviations and references in the abstract.

KEY WORDS: Keywords should be included, should not repeat terms used in the article title. There must be five-six keywords.

Please prepare the Abstract of your Article/Research paper as the sample Abstract given below:

Sample Abstract

Aim of the Study: The study attempt to answer the question; Do work values predict economic growth?

Design/Methodology: World Values data was used to explore the aim of the study through multiple linear regression statistical analysis.

Findings: The results indicate that work ethic does have a relatively evident relationship to economic growth and are significant predictors of GNI per capita and GDP per capita. These results indicated that work ethic changes as countries' priorities change from having higher motivation to work in poorer economies to having lower motivation to work in wealthier economies.

Practical Implications: Leveraging the World Values Survey, this study shows that work priorities have shifted from working for material security/necessity in poorer economies to working for intrinsic needs in wealthier countries. This indicates an unusual non-generational shift in values indicating that employees can have large value shifts as wealth increases.

Originality/value: The current study makes a substantial contribution to the extant literature on the debt growth tradeoffs. It breaks ground by being the first tract that examines, using a NARDL model, asymmetry and nonlinearity of debt-growth tradeoffs in Egypt.

Keywords: work ethics, work priorities, work values, economic growth, work motivation, priority shifting, GDP/GNI per capita

Paper type: Research paper or Review Article, or Case Study or Book Review or Conceptual Paper (please write any one as your paper belongs)

The remaining part of the whole manuscript/paper must follow the following structure

THE STRUCTURE OF THE PAPER:

- Introduction
- Review of Literature
- Materials and Methods/Research Methodology,
- Results & Discussion,
- Conclusion,
- Acknowledgement
- Source of Funding : Please provide detail. Write Self (if there is no funding).
- Conflict of Interest : No Conflict of Interest
- References

1. INTRODUCTION

This section should be concise, with no subheadings. The introduction establishes the scope, context, and significance of the research being conducted by summarizing current understanding and background information about the topic, stating the purpose of the work in the form of the research problem supported by a hypothesis or a set of questions, explaining briefly the methodological approach used to examine the research problem, highlighting the potential outcomes your study can reveal, and outlining the remaining structure and organization of the paper.

2. REVIEW OF LITERATURE

A review provides an overview of the published literature in a particular subject area.

3. MATERIALS AND METHODS/RESEARCH METHODOLOGY

The methods section should provide enough detail for others to be able to replicate the study. If you have more than one method, use subsections with relevant headings, e.g. different models, in vitro and in vivo studies, statistics, materials and reagents, etc.

ARSEAM journals have no space restriction on methods. Detailed descriptions of the methods (including protocols or project descriptions) and algorithms may also be uploaded as supplementary information or a previous publication that gives more details may be cited. If the method from a previous article is used then this article must be cited and discussed.

If a method or tool is introduced in the study, including software, questionnaires, and scales, the license this is available under and any requirement for permission for use should be stated. If an existing method or tool is used in the research, the authors are responsible for checking the license and obtaining any necessary permission. If permission was required, a statement confirming permission was granted should be included in the Materials and Methods section.

4. RESULTS & DISCUSSION

This section may be divided into subsections or may be combined.

Footnotes:

Footnote text (if any) should be placed as Endnotes before the List of references.

Footnotes to a table should be typed directly beneath the table and numbered with superscripts.

5. CONCLUSION

This should clearly explain the main conclusions of the article, highlighting its importance and relevance.

6. ACKNOWLEDGEMENT (IF ANY):

All acknowledgments should be included at the very end of the paper before the references and may include supporting grants, presentations, and so forth. Contributors who do not qualify as authors should be mentioned under Acknowledgements.

7. SOURCE OF FUNDING

Authors must state how the research and publication of their article was funded, by naming financially supporting body(s) (written out in full) followed by associated grant number(s) in square brackets (if applicable).

If the research did not receive specific funding, but was performed as part of the employment of the authors, please name this employer. If the funder was involved in the manuscript writing, editing, approval, or decision to publish, please declare this.

Please provide detail. Write Self (if there is no funding).

8. CONFLICT OF INTERESTS

All the authors of must disclose the possible conflicts of interest/Competing Interests they may have with publication of the manuscript or an institution or product that is mentioned in the manuscript and/or is important to the outcome of the study presented. Authors should also disclose conflict of interest with products that compete with those mentioned in their manuscript. The Conflict of Interest statement should list each author separately by name.

For example:

CONFLICT OF INTEREST: All authors confirmed that there is no conflict of interest.

9. REFERENCES:

Please note:

Some time, it is found that the references written in the paragraphs are not available in the reference list and on the other hand it is also found that the references are present in the reference list but they are not present in the paragraph. plz write only the references in the reference list which are available in paragraph. You must delete the reference from the reference list which is not present in the paragraph.

References in the Text: References citations in the text should be in parentheses and include author name(s) and year of publication. Text citations of two or more works at the time should be given in chronological order. When citing a paper written by three or more authors, write the name of the first author plus “et al.” (However, all authors must be given in the Reference section). Where there are two or more papers by the same author in one year, distinguishing letter (a, b, c....) should be added to year. All references should be carefully cross-checked; it is the author’s responsibility to ensure that references are correct.

Examples:

In the text, references to the literature should be cited by author's surname followed by year of publication:

-studies by Bhasin (1992) reveal.....
-studies by Behera and Patel (1997) reveal.....
-studies by Bhasin et al. (1991) reveal
-an earlier report (Howard 1946)

When more than one author is cited, the listing should be first alphabetical by name and then chronological by date:

-earlier reports (Bhasin et al. 1992, 1993; Weil 1997).....

When references are made to more than one paper by the same author, published in the same year, they should be designated in the text as (Bhasin, 1996a, b)

Bhasin Veena 1996a. Caste Dynamics in a Transhumant Society. J Hum Ecol, 7(2): 77-94.

Bhasin Veena 1996b. Changpas - The Transhumants of Ladakh. J Hum Ecol, 7(4): 225-264.

References should be listed at the end of article.

References should be arranged in alphabetical order and further shorted in chronological manner.
References should be arranged alphabetically according to the surnames of the authors and in chronologically.
